

The Daily Courant.

Monday, March 22. 1708.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated March 27.

Milan, March 10.

GENERAL Count Guido Staremberg is expected here daily, in his Way from Vienna to command in Catalonia. 'Tis rumour'd that General Count Rabutin is to command in Italy during the Absence of Prince Eugene. Two Imperial Regiments, of those quarter'd in the Dutchy of Parma, are about to march to serve on the Upper Rhine, and their Room will be supply'd by other Troops. The Forces of the Enemy in Dauphine, are not numerous enough to perswade Us they will make any considerable Efforts against Piemont the next Campaign.

Francfort, March 21. We have several Advices, that the Enemy cause Troops to file down from Alface to the Netherlands. The Recruits for the Army of the Empire are marching from all Quarters to the Upper Rhine; and 'tis not to be doubted that Army will be very considerable for Number of Men this Year. They write from Hanover, that the Elector's Field-Equipage will set out from thence the 10th of next Month; and that in a few Days after, his Electoral Highness will repair to the Army, where Prince Eugene is expected about the same Time.

Cologne, March 23. The Diet of the States of the Circle of Westphalia, return'd an Answer the 20th Instant to a Letter written to them by the States-General, in which they assure their High Mightinesses, that they will take care to furnish within the Time their Contingent to the Army of the Empire. The Elector of Hanover has written a new Letter to all the Circles and States of the Empire, earnestly pressing them to furnish speedily their respective Contingents pursuant to the Resolution of the Imperial Diet; and assuring them he will repair to the Army in Time. The Enemy causing many Troops to file from Alface down to Brabant, 'tis believ'd they propose to hold themselves on the defensive in Germany.

Amsterdam, Mar. 27. 'Tis advis'd from the Upper Rhine, that the Elector of Hanover has as good as concluded an Agreement with K. Augustus for taking 3000 Saxon Horse into the Service of the Empire. His Electoral Highness solicits the Queen of Great Britain and the States-General, to let the Prussian Troops of the Contingent of the Circle of Westphalia, make the approaching Campaign on the Upper Rhine. 'Tis reported his Electoral Highness has empower'd the Prince of Hesse Cassel to oblige the States of the Upper and Lower Saxony, as well as the other Circles, to furnish their Contingents in Time. 'Tis propos'd to make the Army on the Upper Rhine very numerous, and able to act Offensively: And 'tis talk'd it will be divided into two Bodies, one to be commanded by the Elector of Hanover, the other by Prince Eugene.

Paris, March 23. 'The Court, and by their Example the Publick, are under the greatest Sollicitude for the Success of the Fleet under M. de Forbin. His Majesty has caus'd Horses to be kept ready at every half League, for the greater Expedition of the Expresses dispatch'd to Court from the Coast. The King has receiv'd the News by 2 several Couriers, first of M. de Forbin's sailing out of Newport-Pits the 20th in the Morning, which he immediately caus'd to be communicated to the Queen Dowager; and next, that the same Day, towards the Evening, the English Fleet consisting of 36 Ships of War, were seen passing off Dunkirk. Many are in fear our Squadron will be forc'd to an Engagement by the Enemy's, because they are but 17 Hours at most before them: But others hope, that our Squadron consisting of the nimblest Ships we have, may get into the Port of Edinburgh time enough to shelter themselves from all Insult. A Courier who is arriv'd from Newport by the Way of Dunkirk, reports, that one of our Ships was cast away near the Coast of England on a Sand, but that some of the Men on board her were sav'd. That Ship had in her about 8 Companies of Land-Forces. This News was brought by another Ship, which being much disabled by the hard Weather is return'd into Port. The Duke of Vendome sets out for Flanders within 8 Days at furthest. The King's Household-Troops having pass'd in Review before him, made a very good Appearance; and have begun to file towards Flanders.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated March 27.

Paris, March 23. Some Persons of Quality of Scotland, who arriv'd at Dunkirk in a Frigate from Edinburgh the Day after M. de Forbin sail'd, are speedily expected at Court. The King, in Consideration of the Zeal and Diligence shewn by M. du Gue, Intendant of the Marine at Dunkirk, in fitting out the Fleet, has settled on him a Yearly Pension of 3500 Livres; and made him a Gratification of 4000 Livres, for the extraordinary Charge he was at in entertaining the pretended Prince of Wales and his Attendants. Two Ships from the West-Indies are said to be arriv'd at Rochefort; one having on board 200000 Pieces of Eight, the other 100000; but we cannot yet learn the Names of these Ships. The Government of Cambray, vacant by the Death of the Count de Montbrun, is given to the Count de Bezons, and his of Gravelin to the Count de Chemerault.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 27.

Mons, March 23. The 21st the Elector of Bavaria receiv'd by an Express from Dunkirk Advice of the Count de Forbin's being Sail'd out of Newport-Pits. 'Tis rumour'd, that if the Expedition to Scotland succeed, the greatest Part of the Forces in these Parts will march towards Namur, to open the Campaign on the Maese. In the mean time we want a great Number of Recruits to compleat our Troops.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated March 27.

Lille, March 24. The French and Swiss-Guards are expected here the Beginning of next Month. Yesterday arriv'd here Part of the Duke of Vendome's Baggage; but we have no certain Account yet when that Prince will set out from Court: Mean while all the Troops that are to form his Army, are to draw together by the 16th of next Month.

Hague, March 27. 'When the Forces of the Allies in the Netherlands were sent into Winter-Quarters after the last Campaign was ended, the Count de Bentheim Steinfors, commanding the Regiment of Horse of Tilly, suffer'd some of those Horse to be surpriz'd and carry'd off by the Enemy as they were on their March to the Quarters assign'd them. For this he has been tried by a Court-Martial, and sentenc'd To pay a certain Sum for a Standard that was taken by the Enemy on that Occasion; To lye in Prison at Maestricht 6 Months, and during that Time to receive no Pay or Profit by his Commission; And, in the Presence of two Deputies of the States, to ask Pardon of Lieutenant-General Hompesch, for presuming to alter in the Route he had given him the Name of one Village for another: Which tho' not done with an ill Design, and only for some private Conveniency, drew this Disgrace upon him; for as ill Luck would have it, just in that Village were his Men surpriz'd and taken. The Names of the Majors-General and Brigadiers appointed by the States to serve in the Netherlands the approaching Campaign, are as follow.

Majors-

London, March 22.

Yesterday in the Evening arriv'd an Express, dispatch'd on Wednesday the 17th at Night from Edinburgh. At that Time all was quiet in Scotland, and the French Fleet had not been heard of since Sir George Bing lost Sight of them. We hear, that Sir George has sent Cruisers to look out for them; but 'tis conjectur'd they are gone to take in Water at Norway or Denmark. The Prisoners taken in the Salisbury, are dispos'd on board several of our Ships.
